INGTON, May 4—President Eisenhower, having the government buy the available supply of polio vaccine for free distribution to developed children being deprived of it because they are too poor to pay, the House announced today.

Announcement followed a protest at which Mr. said the government is that no child shall be protected of polio vaccine if his family is too poor.

Shower also came out against free distribution, as at present despite congressional demands for federal control, he had studied all of federal controls and found that the present voluntary priorities is the

Military Help For Far East Allies Hiked

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Gen. George C. Marshall, head of the administration plans to give nearly a billion dollars in new military aid to Korea, Indochina and the Chinese on Formosa.

Johnson's aides said yesterday he reported the figures following a White House conference he described as "helpful and hopeful."

A Senate foreign relations committee spokesman said Johnson's figures, by saying the amounts he mentioned do not include the actual "hardware" of military aid, such as tanks, planes and guns.

Other things, he said, are included in a $4,400,000 subtotal of President Eisenhower's $5,500,000 total aid program. The $1,000,000 total is now available to Formosa, while the rest is held in Asia, and hence the amount for Korea-Indochina and Formosa could go well above their combined total of $965,000,000 in Johnson's report.

The Senate's breakdown of the $1,400,000 available, it being regarded as a military secret:

President Eisenhower and other administration leaders talked for 40 minutes with 29 key congressmen members, in a prelude to congressional consideration of the President's $14 billion dollar foreign aid program.

Senate Appropriations carries $1,710,000,000 for military aid funds, $712,500,000 economic aid and another $1,000,000,000 for defense support payments to free countries around the world.

5 Causes Listed In Suit for Bills

The Professional Adjustment Bureau filed a complaint in a probate court against William T. Van Horn and Lucille Van Horn.

The complaint lists five causes of action. The first is for merchandise totaling $2,000,000, for which the Standard Oil company of Salt Lake City, the bureau seeks payment of the bill plus $22 interest.

The second cause of action is for $1,000,000, for the Clinton Clinic alone, 1953-1954, for $14 for professional services. The third is for goods and wares amounting to $30,000 received from El Dorado Drug Store, Nev., in October and October 1954.

The fourth cause of action is for goods and wares received between December, 1953, and May, 1954, from Arnold's store, Kimberly, totaling $2,233. The fifth cause of action is for medical supplies from Lebedeva's lumber and mill works, Kimberly, between August, 1953, and January, 1954, and totaling $54.31.

J. M. Jewell is attorney for the bureau.

Legion Opposes Hospital Closing

Two Falls post no. 7, American Legion, has record. This May Legion is strongly opposing the Hoover commission recommendation to close the Veterans hospital in Boise. Commander George S. Bever named Steve Lewis chairman of the Legion's committee to oppose the million-dollar continuance of the hospital.

The resolution will be presented during the district convention here May 20-21.

Sam Eskin, member of a special Legion VA hospital committee opposing the Hoover commission, told Legion members the Hoover report was erroneous and exaggerated.

The Idaho department of the American Legion opposes closing of the VA hospital in Boise.

Official "Grown in Idaho" Trademark Already Being Used for Idaho Spuds

ROISE, May 4—The official "Grown in Idaho" trademark adopted by the Idaho advertising commission is being used by which Idaho containers become available beginning July 1. It already used by several Idaho shippers in cleaning up the current crop, says Tom Heaton, commission secretary.

"The design is copyrighted and it's trademark registered and is being made through the attorney gen-

Regulations governing the use of the trademark have been mailed to all shippers and to known manufacturers of potato containers.

Regulations stipulate that the trademark shall be on the front of each container, not less than four inches from the top but above the middle on containers of 50 or more pounds and "plainly visible" to the consumer.

Also required on all potato containers are the words "Packed in Idaho".

Idaho" followed by the name and address of the shipper.

The same regulation also prohibits the use of the name of any state or geographical region other than Idaho.

Idaho growers and shippers are given until July 1, 1956, to use up existing supplies of containers that have not yet been converted to the new trademark regulation.

Permits for the use of the "Grown in Idaho" trademark will be granted to out-of-state receivers who re-pack Idaho potatoes under their own name, provided that the name and address of the re-packer also is used and other provisions to be outlined by agreement are observed.

Only shipments of certified seed potatoes to destinations outside of Idaho are exempt, Heaton said.

"The trademark will help Mrs.

New Era Looms for European History As German Sovereignty Draws Closer

By United Press

A new era in European history will open tomorrow when the Federal Republic of Germany becomes a sovereign nation.

West Germany, as it is called, will become an ally of the United States and the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

It will start to raise an army of 400,000 men, an air force of 80,000 men and a navy of 20,000 men.

Russia will have suffered a major defeat in the process.

At the same time, West Germany's allies will be faced with some new problems.

One will be to make sure that West Germany does not in its desperate attempt to be sure to make to keep German rearmament from becoming a reality.

Another will be to keep Germany with its military tradition, from becoming a democratic instead of a hegemonic power.

will be strictly limited by treaty. But so was the westward march of years before the two world wars. West Germans just took up the treaty.

For the present, however, and for the foreseeable future, Soviet Russia is the threat.

Every step which West Germany takes in the process of rearmament will make the idea of a third world war more remote.

Russia has shown how deeply it fears West German rearmament.

It fought every step of the long, painful process of wrining and rationalizing rearmament and accompanying treaties.

It has denounced its treaties of alliance with Great Britain and France.

It is about to form a joint military command with its European satellites as a return to the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

At the same time, the Kremlin is not trying a new tactic, the only tactic that would save the government. It lost when Hitler picked it in 1938. Russia's sole reason for even thinking of concluding an Austrian treaty is the hope that it will sabotage German rearmament.

An Austrian treaty is signed. Russian occupation troops will

Would Hurt Invasion*Plans, Nationalists Believe

United Press
The nationalists seem to improve with age. To maintain an army, the leaven of youth is needed.
They might hurt their own returning to the battlefield," another said.

The communists now have China's vast reservoir of manpower to draw upon. Chiang has only the eight million population of Formosa.

Chiang's one aim in life is to lead a crusade to the mainland.
He is confident that the mainland people would rise against the reds. He feels that every day which sees his army with life is a day lost.

In these circumstances the nationalists are bitter over the possibility of a cease-fire.

Dispatches from Taipei, the Pormesean capital, tell of a blast of news from the United States that appeared in local nationalist newspapers.

"The trend of events seems to reveal that it would be better to be a bitter enemy of Uncle Sam than of that feeling secret that sollars do not necessarily er than a faithful ally," one newspaper said.

"It is a pity that the leading democracy is again preferring a ruler of principles to victory on the battlefield," another said.

Chiang's own situation is becoming more complicated as time passes.

Chiang's one aim in life is to
lead a crusade to the mainland.
He is confident that the mainland

people would rise against the reds. He feels that every day which sees his army with life is a day lost.

Chiang wants no cease-fire. As he sees it, a cease-fire can only help the communists. The argument that a cease-fire would reduce far eastern tension makes no appeal to him.

Chiang was an army major in the United States during World War II.

Chiang was the national leader of China broke with the left wing of his Kuomintang party. He started a mass purge of communists, and Chiang fought the Reds for 10 years until, in 1937, the Japanese invaded China. The anti-red fight was renewed at the end of World War II, and an open civil war was planned for 1949.

Now four and one-half years after his withdrawal to Formosa, Chiang now feels that his chance of leading his army back home may soon become dimmer. He is now 67, and like his soldiers, he is getting no younger.

Official Urges National Plan In Water Use

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Fred L. Peterson said yesterday that the United States needs "a nationwide water policy" to prevent water users, either which private interests and local, state and federal governments "can all work in harmony and accord."

Any federal activity and any national water plan "must honor fully the right of any user" which is granted by a state law, he said, and it also must "recognize the authority of the states to control and regulate the use, appropriation and distribution of water within their geographic boundaries."

Finally, a nationwide policy must "provide the framework within which the states can resolve conflicts between themselves for use of water," he said.

Peterson spoke at a water supply session of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce's 42nd annual meeting. A cabinet committee appointed by President Eisenhower is now working on a national water resources policy.

He said there is "more water storage capacity in the ground than in all man-made reservoirs" and cities "brought under sound management, both in the interest of the maximum yield of forest products and in the interest of water conservation." The country also has a "considerable amount of man-made water storage and distribution facilities," he said.

At the same session, Harry E. Jordan, secretary of the American Water Works Association, said per capita demands for water are expected to increase by two-thirds during the 25 years from 1950 to 1975.

He said future water demands, which already exist, require the spending of some $400,000,000 a year for water works construction during the next ten years, and not less than $450,000,000 a year for the ten years following.

Aide Attacks Press in U. S. Trust Actions

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Assistant Attorney General Stanley Barnes said yesterday that recent statements by the press have demonstrated that the press has made a fair settlement against the nation's largest publishing and advertising associations.

Barnes said the government's public pronouncements by counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) and the American Association of Advertising Agencies had "sought to distort the government's position" and had failed to give the government's case.

For this reason, Barnes said, the government will file suit against the ANPA, the advertising group and four other media trade associations in the southern district of New York "within the next several days."

He said the government would "cooperate" in every way to bring the case to trial at the earliest possible moment.

Barnes made the statement before a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

The government's intention to file suit against the trade associations was first revealed last week at the New York convention of the ANPA. Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., later confirmed that the government had drawn up a complaint charging them with violating antitrust laws through alleged price fixing, restraint of trade and the operation of a "recognition system."

Rainmaker to Have Bumper Year in 1955

WASHINGTON: May 4—The year may be the rainmaker's most experimental yet, an official of the U. S. Advisory Committee on Weather Control said today.

Charles Gardner, executive secretary of the committee, said cloud seeding experiments probably will be carried over a larger area than ever before.

The previous record year was 1951 when tests covered an area 12 or 13 times larger than was covered by irrigation at that time. About 46 million acres, or more than 4,000 square miles, was under irrigation in 1951.

Gardner said interest in artificial rain-making experiments appeared to drop some extent after 1951 but is picking up again now.

He said competent meteorologists do not believe it is possible to make it rain, rather to increase the amount of potential rainfall.

The advisory committee is now attempting to evaluate how effective its dry ice and silver iodide cloud seeding has been. It expects to have some pretty good answers by June 30, 1956.

The committee does not itself conduct tests, but all "rainmakers" and "rain-seeders" are required to submit detailed data to the committee for study.

Gardner said there are four commercial outfits carrying on several operations simultaneously, 20 carrying out less extensive work, and others operating individually or in cooperative ventures.

One man said he could profit by converting ocean water into rain, but his idea of automatically converting sea water into drinking water would be shot 1,000 to 30,000 feet into the air, depending on rain-cloud and air-current levels, to fall as rain or drift back to the sea.

Another would pipe water from the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and Lake Michigan to drought areas. It would be expensive, he said, but not as costly as local rainfall.

He has suggested that the army corps of engineers cut enormous ditches through the Rocky mountains, from west to east to channel moisture from the coast-to-coast system of mountain ranges.

He said he told the committee he knew how to divert the Gulf stream from its normal course northward from the Gulf of Mexico along the Atlantic coast, but didn't know how to do it. Gardner said, "for fear that we might put it to some evil purpose."

DENVER: May 4—Eighty-five percent of the new issues registered at the U. S. securities and exchange commission office here last month were for uranium ventures.

Acting Manager Joseph Kryz said today that 10 companies at Salt Lake City processed 45 new issues seeking more than $10,800,000 in financing during April. Thirty-nine issues were for uranium ventures, he said.

'Be Kind to Animals' Urges Agency in Giving 'Nip' List

LOS ANGELES: May 4—The overly inquisitive 10-year-old school animal regulation department made its "Be Kind to Animals week" announcement today that 16,401 persons were bitten in Los Angeles last year by dogs, cats, raccoons, skunks, rodents, birds, and a privacy-loving goat.

There was good reason for the timing of the announcement. The department estimates 98 per cent of the nippings were provoked by the victims.

Dogs topped the nip-list with 14,887 bites and cats were second. Last year took a surprise third place with 81 victims, followed by rats, rabbits, monkeys, mice, horses, squirrels, gophers, chipmunks, guinea pigs, raccoons and a few skunks.

Fifteen persons were pecked by our feathered foes. The offenders included parrots, parakeets, chickens, ducks, blackbirds, a cockatoo, a penguin and a dove.

The annual bit a Los Angeles manufacturer on the finger, and the penguin pecked the nose of an overly inquisitive 10-year-old school girl.

But the statistics wouldn't happen if people were more careful. Chief Animal Inspector Robert S. Morris tells us that a man from San Fernando Valley was bitten by a woman.

"She saw a funny little animal dart into a hole in her front lawn," he said. "She got down on her hands and knees and peeked into the hole. A porcupine poked his head out and bit her on the tip of the nose."

Boy, 11, Saves Sister in Blaze

TERRETON: May 4—David Chase, 11, was credited today with saving his 5-year-old sister Pamela from serious burns.

With a brother Gregory, 8, the children were burning weeds at the family farm here when gasoline being used on the fire spilled and ignited Pamela's dress. David smothered the flames by rolling his sister on the ground.

The girl, who received burns on the left leg, was treated at Idaho Falls.

Quartet Honored

HANSEN: May 4—Four girls from the Hansen Community Methodist church were rewarded for their church work Saturday with a trip to Boise. Kristene Allen, Karen Allen, Shirley Johnson and Joyce Wilson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taylor and the Rev. Paul V. La Rue, spent the day in the capital city.

The trip was the culmination of a seven-week class in church membership training which was taught by Captain Marlyn Taylor, fifth member of the class, who was unable to take the trip because of illness.

Cities Grow Despite A-Bomb Threat

One of the most obvious aspects of the modern era has been the increasing tendency to urbanize, despite the ever-present threat of atomic attack. Photograph above illustrates recent predictions of Sociology Professor Kingsley Davis, Columbia University, who says that in 2050 half the world's population will be living in cities of 100,000 or more. This he says, is explained by advancing technology which enables the few on the land to feed the many in the city. He adds that as the fourth of humankind living in underdeveloped countries becomes modernized, this movement toward the cities will increase. Development of low-cost, high-speed transportation could influence workers to live well outside the cities and continue to work. (NRA)

Laughter of World Dwindling; Is Sober Thought of Humorist

By HAL BOYCE

NEW YORK, May 4.—If you are worried about your health here is a comforting thought—you probably won't die laughing.

Laughter never has been a leading cause of death in this country, and the danger of it seems to have left us," said Morton, who says he wouldn't advise any mother to try to raise her boy to be a light writer.

"I can't do it anyway," he added. "No one who writes a good piece knows exactly how or why he was able to. All he knows is that it warms him in a strange way."

"It is a good, funny different form of death, but ourselves. Everybody's terribly cautious. They're afraid of offending someone. As the money stakes get higher and our enterprises larger, everything seems to become desperately serious."

"This is too bad. There is enough that is upside down in this world to warm anybody having a good big laugh."

Morton, associate editor of "The Atlantic Monthly," is one of the few remaining masters of the light article, a deft humor form brightened by such predecessors as Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley. After surviving the female critics, he is now writing his own column for the New York Times.

Other new writers installed are Alden Mowbray, vice president; J. E. Hammont, secretary; Don Hawk and Gatten Soule, directors.

He has a theory on how a sense of humor develops and how it differs from normal people.

"Assuming a child is ordinarily intelligent and has a sense of proportion, he can learn to believe the ridiculous things they say. It also seems funny to him to reflect that they have believing in them, too."

He is asking, in effect, that parents tell him what they think is mountaineering and that they don't know what they are talking about.

"This seems ridiculous to him and his mother, but he believes it is time to see people believe the ridiculous things they say. It also seems funny to him to reflect that they have believing in them, too."

But there are a few people who never stop after a few years growing up. Thus, it could be interpreted that a light writer is a case of arrested development.
